

How Firm a Foundation

Page 94 Trinity Hymnal (G). 175 Fake book. (Ab)
Violin obligato book, 275/275 Ab;I-63 G.

G                    C                    G                                    D
How firm            a foun-    dation, you saints of the    Lord,
Fear not,            I am            with you, O be not dis-    mayed,
When through the deep waters I call you to    go,
When through fiery            trials thy pathways shall lie,

G                    C                    G    Em                    G    D7                    G
Is laid            for your faith in His    ex-    cellent    Word!
For I            am thy God and will    still give you aid;
The ri-            vers of    woe shall not    thee over-    flow;
My grace, all    suf- fi-    cient, shall be    thy sup-    ply;

                                  D    Em                                    G                                    D
What more can He say than to    you He has    said,
I'll strengthen    and help you,    and cause you    to stand
For I will            be with you,    your troubles to    bless,
The flame shall not hurt thee; I    only                    design

G                    C                    G    Em                    G    D7                    G
To you,            who for ref-    uge to    Je-    sus have fled?
Upheld            by My right-    eous, omni-    potent    hand.
And sanc-    tify            to    you your deepest dis-    tress.
Thy dross to con-    sume, and your gold to re-    fine.
